

Getting Federal Computers Ready for 2000

Getting Federal Computers Ready for 2000
Report of the U.S. Office of Management and Budget
February 6, 1997

The year 2000 computer problem is a seemingly simple one: assuring that computers will recognize the correct year will know that the year "00" stands for 2000. However, the hardware and software in many computer systems will not information in a table. For example, (operating system). Because computer

|

Attachment A to this report shows major agen

Federal programs. The figures provided by come into the government during 1997. The group, agencies have stopped acquiring

